

KVH Sponsors MEC "Duck Duck Race"

The Middletown Educational Collaborative \(MEC\) sponsored their annual Duck Duck Race on Monday, July 28 (rescheduled from Sunday, July 27 due to rain) and, thanks in part to a sizeable monetary donation from KVH employees, as well as a bunch of KVH volunteers, it was a great success! Between contributions from individual employees, the charitable giving committee, and staff in KU's manufacturing department (who all chipped in a few dollars to 'rent' Debra Bzdula's Volunteer of the Quarter parking spot for a day apiece, with the funds sponsoring eight ducks), KVH donated a total of $780 to the fundraiser. Several KVH employees also volunteered to oversee children's activities at the event, and still more attended with their children, making the day a glowing success all around!

Special thanks to MEC members Carolyn McDonald for the great photos!

The Duck Duck Race featured fun activities for kids, like painting quahog shells.

Race volunteers help the ducks get into the water.

A box of ducks waits for their chance to race.

The Duck Duck Race begins!

This duck was actually a prize!

Ready to race.