

Volunteer of the Quarter: Paula Conway

Have you noticed a different car in the coveted KVVH "Volunteer of the Quarter" parking spot? It belongs to our most recent Volunteer of the Quarter, Paula Conway!

Paula's dedication to the community is far-reaching, including her strong support for Child & Family on Aquidneck Island. Child & Family provides a wide range of services to children and families in Newport County, and Paula spends a lot of time working with the women in their Supportive Housing program. As a matter of fact, she was named Volunteer of the Year by the organization in recognition of her successful weekly cooking classes! In addition to teaching the women in the Supportive Housing facility how to cook healthy, inexpensive meals for themselves and their children, she also led the KVVH Career Training Program, which helped several women to develop important skills like keyboarding and resume creation.

Paula is selfless in donating her time and many talents to the community, and that's why she is our newest Volunteer of the Quarter. Congratulations, Paula!
