Q&A:

Are KVH's TracVision® systems compatible with DISH Network HDTV?

Yes, they are! All new KVH TracVision R-series and M-series systems are 100% compatible with DISH Network's TurboHD programming, which includes both HD and standard-definition channels.* TracVision also offers easy satellite switching from the remote control, all with no extra hardware required!

How many HD channels can I get with DISH Network?

DISH Network offers over 50 channels of premium high-definition television, so whether you love sports, news, movies, or sitcoms, you can watch your favorite programs in crystal-clear high-definition.

I have a TracVision system and a subscription to another provider. Can I switch to DISH Network?

Yes, and easily! All of KVH's current TracVision mobile satellite TV systems* are fully compatible with all of the leading North American satellite TV providers. Best of all, making a switch with a current M-series or R-series TracVision is easy – just make sure your antenna has up-to-date software, install your new receiver, and the system automatically configures itself to track the correct satellites! KVH dealers nationwide are available to assist and KVH can even activate your new receiver for you. And if you have an older RV TracVision system or a TracVision C3, you're in luck as upgrades are available for many of KVH's previous models. See your authorized KVH dealer for details.

Can I get HDTV on the move with TracVision and DISH Network?

Absolutely. KVH's in-motion TracVision systems allow you to watch the best HDTV from DISH Network whenever you like, whether you're stationary or on the move. There's no need to limit your access to the best TV available with a system that only allows you to view it when you're parked or at anchor!

I already have a TracVision system. Can I get DISH HD?

You certainly can, via an easy software upgrade for most TracVision systems. Check with your local authorized TracVision dealer for details, or visit www.kvh.com/wheretogetservice to find a dealer near you.
